About Us

Since the early 1990s, we have been providing operations management solutions to schools. After spending over 20 years at SchoolDude, we decided to establish OperationsHERO to return to our roots in education. In 2021, we launched a suite of tools to manage work orders, preventive maintenance, events, inventory, assets, and energy. We are continuously seeking ways to help educational institutions save money, enhance productivity, and provide better services to their students.
